Digital Boosters for Squad Cars

Our squad cars require data signal boosters for efficient computer operations. The boosters are $800 each, with installation costs of about $200-$300 each. We should buy 6 now for installation and the last 3 when we replace cars (alternately we can buy and install all 9 now, which amounts to spending the installation money for an undetermined time until the new cars arrive – maybe 2 months). These boosters will be First Net compliant in the event that is needed in the future.

We budgeted for this in Account:
