Alderson Blundy is curious how much the property has received over the years. Regarding the grant for the brewpub and event space. Planning and Development Director Oliphant shared that it is in the process of being sold and should close within the next 40-45 days. The new owner plans to continue the development where they left off but it is speculative. He explained that if they continue with the same agreement, it will still apply and they are trying to have the current owner finish up the exterior work but if not, hopefully they can encourage the new owner to complete it. Regarding the Fosters and Brunks buildings, contacts have been made and action will likely take place soon. He noted the fosters building received tuck-pointing a few years ago and the Brunks building may need structural considerations. He also shared that the new owner may divide the space. Alderson Blundy does not support this due to many concerns that are still up in the air.
